Volume LXXXV

Moments of the Millennium

In this, the 85th volume of the Quittapahilla, we usher in the year 2000. Highlighted throughout this book are the moments of change that took place throughout this past year in order to ring in the Millennium. The class of 2000 will appreciate everything we have spotlighted in this book because it will serve as memories of the best four years of their lives. Underclassmen can appreciate this book as well because it is an opportunity for them to look back on the 1999-2000 academic year and see the experiences to which they can look forward. With the turn of the new century there are many moments to look back on with both smiles and tears. We hope that this year's Quittapahilla will allow you to look back years from now and remember your "Moments of the Millennium."

Student Life

The Millennium brought many exciting moments in student life this year through a number of plays, Wellness Week, an unforgettable formal, a fun-filled Children's Day, Homecoming, and many other memorable events. The LVC student body continues to be actively involved on campus in producing and running these events. It is the hard work and dedication of these students that make all of these events possible. Events such as these provide memories that will last a lifetime and provide an escape from the daily stress of classes for LVC students.

Freshman Orientation

It's a hot Saturday in August and you are a new student at Lebanon Valley College. What does the college provide for you but a fun-filled day of exciting activities and lots of chances to meet new people. Thanks to the help of current LVC students, resident assistants, peer advisors, administrators, and staff, the first few days of a new student's life is not as harmful as it seemed when that student graduated from high school only a few months ago. Play Fair was a big hit this year with incoming freshman because it put everyone on an equal playing field and showed that everyone is the same - once you get to know them. Congratulations to the incoming freshman - the class of 2003!

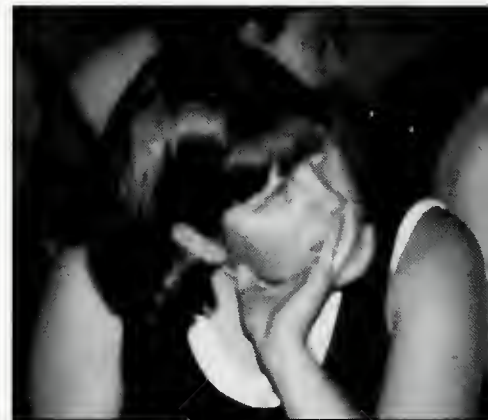

Two students explain the rules of the next event to their team

"Can I PLEASE just go back to my room?"

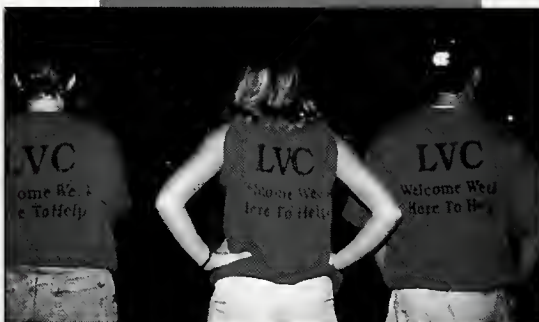

Who's having more fun here - the LVC leaders or the new students?

LVC leaders helped freshman orientation run smoothly and assisted the new students in getting accustomed to their new surroundings.

A new student says a final goodbye to his parents and prepares for

"I cannot believe they are making me do this stuff!"

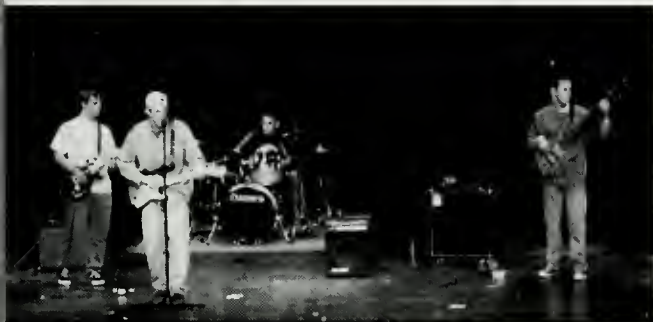

Talent Show

VC's new gospel choir "Voices of Spirit" wowed the audience with their amazing talent.

Kate, Halley, Elspeth, and Kate performed their rendition of "Iowa."

The talented band, Kings of Olde, perform a song called "Lady Night."

The scores are tallied and the winner is.....

..... "Voices of Spirit!"

The club on campus in charge of spreading diversity awareness - Leading Educational Awareness of Diversity (LEAD) - sponsored the sixth annual talent show on October 8, 1999. It was held in Leedy Theater and there was not a seat in the house without a student in it. Students collaborated on eight different acts - everything from a rock band to spiritual chanting. The MC this year was Ms. Leighann Lord and some of the judges were Oliver Carter, Harry Hunt, David Newell, and Rose Anne Steckbeck. Door Prizes were given out this year, also, and it was good to see so much student talent on display in front of hundreds of students, faculty, and guests. In third place was the song "Iowa" performed by Kate, Elspeth, Halley, and Kate - an entire group of seniors. Second place was "I May Have" by Tyrone Broxton. First place was given to Voices of Spirit performing "Center of My Joy." Congratulations to all of the winners and congratulations to the performers in general — everyone did a great job!

Tyrone Broxton caught the attention of everyone with his poetry reading.

Hosting the 1999 Talent Show was comedian, Leighann Lord, who had the audience laughing the entire show.

Children's Day

This years Children's day was by far a fabulous moment of the millenium. Over 250 students from the local Annville and Cleona schools were shuffled into the academic quad for a day of fun-filled events. The theme for this year was "Mystery", and the children were given clues at each station that would eventually lead them to discover a famous childrens book character. The children were assigned to colorful groups such as the red crayons or the green frogs. They paraded to and from a variety of stations such as Arts and Crafts, Reader's Theater, Games, Storytime, and much, much more! At the end of the day both the gradeschool students and the college volunteers were all tuckered out. This years Children's Day was an enormous success, and everyone is looking forward to next years!

Brighton Beach Memoirs

The play is a semi-autobiographical account of Neil Simon's childhood in Brighton Beach, Brooklyn, New York City. Characters include his hard-working father, Jack, and his sometimes "flighty" Aunt Blanche. It is part of what is commonly referred to as the Brighton Beach trilogy with the latter parts being Biloxi Blues and Broadway Bound. It is a play that will have you laugh at the antics of Mr. Eugene Morris Jerome and cry, as toes of sisterhood and maternity are broken. It is one of Neil Simon's best works and has been enjoyed by audiences everywhere.

Twelfth Night

Twelfth Night, or What you Will is one of the most frequently performed of Shakespeare's comedies. Its title suggests the celebrations of Christmas and Epiphany, the carnival-like revels of the passing of the old year and the coming of the new, when masters and servants playfully change places and pranks were played at the Feast of Fools. At the heart of Twelfth Night, however, is Romance-not just the romantic love story of Orsino and Viola, Olivia and Sebastian, but the adventure, intriguer, and magic of a foreign place where dporwned siblings rise from waters, where a girl becomes a boy and then a girl again, where servants overthrow their masters and masters are overmastered by love. There is something environmental about the intrigue and romance of Twelfth Night. Shakespeare's Illyria must be a climate where dukes and countesses, shipwrecked girls and pirate captains, courtiers, and duellists, clowns and carnivals, masters and servants can all co-exist, a climate both cosmopolitan and exotic

Spring Arts

April 28-30 brought everyone's favorite annual campus event - Spring Arts. Past years have proven successful and this year was no exception. Various clubs represented themselves by having food and entertainment stands covering Sheridan Avenue and the academic quad, while local and campus bands performed throughout campus during the day. Nighttime activities brought the LVC campus alive with live bands, parties, socializing and lots of fun. The most popular band to perform was Green Eggs and Spam, a local band which has also made appearances at nightclubs throughout Pennsylvania. Truly Spring Arts produced many exciting "Moments of the Millennium."

Activities Fair

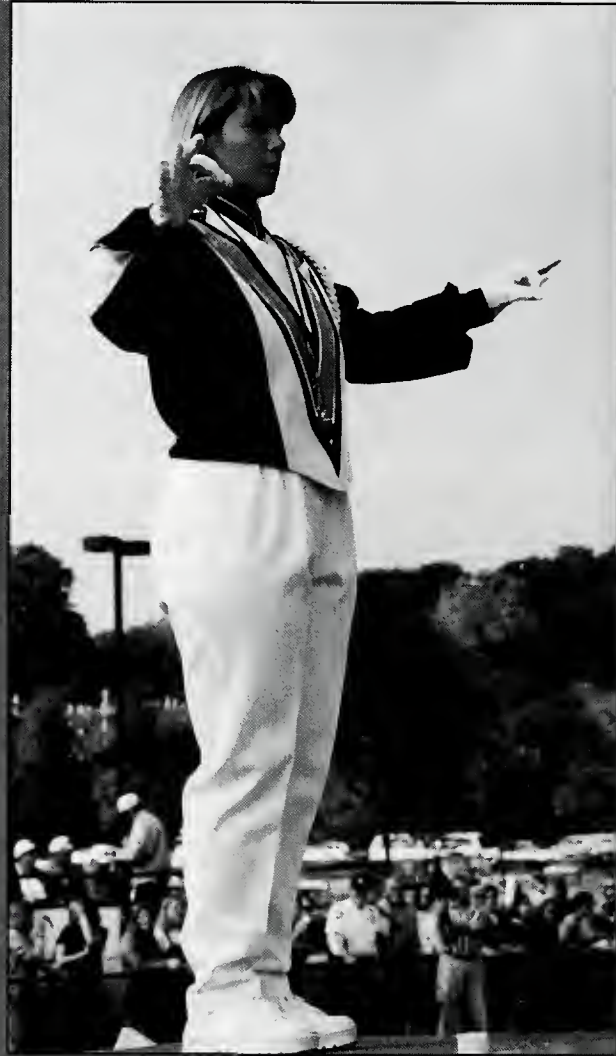

In early September 1999, the various LVC clubs and organizations set up tables on the social quad and attempted to recruit new members to add to their membership list. LVC represents a diverse selection of groups varying from academic clubs, music groups, Greeks, and performance groups. Each group brings something different to the LVC campus. The Activities Fair is a way to draw new and returning students to get involved in extracurricular activities.

Fasick Bridge Raising Ceremony

LVC held its dedication ceremonies for the Fasick Bridge this past year during its annual Alumni Weekend celebration on Friday, May 19, 2000 at 5:00 p.m. The Fasick Bridge, the pedestrian walkway which spans Route 934, will allow for students, faculty, staff, and administration to access the McGill Field baseball stadium and other fields on the west side of the campus. The 126-foot-long Fasick Bridge is named in honor of Dr. Ross and Mrs. Betty Fasick. Dr. Fasick is chair of LVC's Board of Trustees and a 1955 graduate of the college. A chadds Ford resident and Harrisburg native, Fasick spent 34 years building a distinguished career at DuPont. He held various positions with the company throughout the U.S. and in Brazil before retiring as a senior vice president of polymers and automotive in 1993. He has served LVC well and the dedication of this bridge in his name is recognition for his effort to improve the LVC campus.

Seniors

It has been a year full of timeless and unforgettable moments for the class of 2000. These moments have helped shape who and what they will be as they set out into the "real world" to test the skills that they have acquired over the past four years at Lebanon Valley. They will look back on these moments and remember the laughter as well as the tears and hopefully sit back with a smile on their face when they remember all of the amazing adventures that they had at LVC. Each member of the senior class brought their own unique gifts and talents to help form the class of the new millennium. As they embark on their journey into a new and exciting world, we take time to remember their "moments of the millennium."

Farewell, Class of 2000!

Senior Candids

Faculty

While we all have our daily complaints about certain professors that we can't seem to cope with, most agree that the faculty and staff of LVC are devoted and dedicated to their work.

They are willing to go the extra mile to make sure that we understand and are prepared to go into the real world. This year saw the arrival of a few new professors and also the final farewell to others.

As we all share in these wonderful "Moments of the Millennium" at LVC, we know they would not be possible without the dedication of President Pollick and the wonderful faculty this college provides.

LVC saw an exciting year in sports as many teams advanced to the playoffs. LVC also said goodbye to senior stand-outs such as Men's Basketball's Keith Phoebus, Ice Hockey's J.P. Callahan, Women's Basketball's Serenity Roos and Meghan Ritzman, Field Hockey's Carrie Fetterman, and Track and Field's Braden Snyder and Ann Musser. The Ice Hockey team continued to use Hershey Arena as their home ice while the baseball and softball teams got new locker rooms in the newly built Heilman Center. Overall, it was another exciting year in sports as we observed "Moments of the Millennium."

Organizations

Many moments captured throughout the year involved some type of extracurricular activity. The organizations at LVC are full of variety and excitement. They provide both faculty and LVC students with a wonderful opportunity to meet new people. They are a great way to escape from the doldrums of everyday school life, as well as take part in something of interest. When students surround themselves with other people who like the same things as them, they are bound to form long-lasting friendships. This year's organizations will allow the LVC community to look back on some of the best moments of the millennium.

Greek Life

Under the Presidency of Kate Pine, Greek Council attempted some new things on campus this year. One of these things was the first annual Fall Greek Week held in October. Some of the events included the root beer chugging contest, mattress race, and lucky dice game. Meet the Greeks this year featured jello wrestling and brought many prospective pledges. Spring Greek Week was held during the week of April 24-28 and featured many of the same events as previous years. Greeks continue to make their presence known on campus throughout the Millennium through socials, community service, and leadership.

Music

Music can be heard everywhere throughout the Lebanon Valley campus during the school year. We start off in the fall with the Pride of the Valley, our LVC marching band, as they help us trumpet the way into the start of a new school year. There are numerous concerts that take place during the school year put on by various ensembles and quintets. Christmas at the Valley is another favorite event in which a wonderful musical presentation takes place. The sounds of music can be heard throughout the campus helping everyone get in that holiday mood. For many members of the LVC community the musical ensembles will be a time that they will look back on and remember some fabulous moments of the millennium.

Graduation

Graduation is so much more than the conferring of degrees. While receiving a degree is very important, saying goodbye to friends is a very emotional part of graduation. Friends that have become family over four years slowly slip away and there is no way to rewind the clock and bring them back. As last-minute things are packed and gradually moved from dorm room to car, tears begin to fall and reality sets in. These seniors may no longer be students and competitors but may only return as visitors and spectators. These hard-working, dedicated students show promising futures as they begin their careers in the new Millennium.

CONGRATULATIONS GRADS

Graduation (Friends Forever)

—Vitamin C

So we talked all night about the rest of our lives
Where we're gonna be when we turn 25.
I keep thinking times will never change
Keep on thinking things will always be the same.
But when we leave this year we won't be coming back.
No more hanging out cause we're on a different track.
And if you got something that you need to say
You better say it right now 'cause you don't have another day.
'Cause we're moving on and we can't slow down.
These memories are playing like a film without sound.
I keep thinking of that night in June
I didn't know much of love but it came too soon.
And there was me and you and when we got real blue
We'd stay at home talking on the telephone.
We'd get so excited and we'd get so scared
Laughing at ourselves thinking life's not fair.
And this is how it feels...

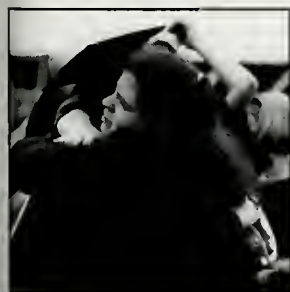

(Chorus) As we go on we remember
All the times we had together
And as our lives change, come whatever
We will still be friends forever.

So if we get the big jobs and we make the big money
When we look back at now will our jokes still be funny?
Will we remember everything we learned in school
Still be trying to break every single rule?
Will little brainy Bobby be the stockbroker man?
Will Heather find a job that won't interfere with her tan?
I keep - keep thinking that it's not goodbye
Keep on thinking it's our time to fly.
And this is how it feels...

Chorus

Will we think about tomorrow like we think about now?
Can we survive it out there, can we make it somehow?
I guess I thought that this would never end.
And suddenly it's like we're women and men.
Will the past be a shadow that will follow us around?
Will these memories fade when I leave this town?
I keep - keep thinking that it's not goodbye
Keep on thinking it's our time to fly.

Chorus

Closing

Looking back on the 1999-2000 school year one can recall a host of memories. Some will bring laughter, other tears, but in the end a smile will form on each and every LVC student's face. Years from now when they pull out this yearbook, perhaps to show to children of their own, they will recall the hard work and dedication that helped form who and what they were destined to become. Each of these memories will hold a special place in their heart, and their place as a part of the LVC community will forever be etched into the campus. From the opening of a new bridge, the introduction of many swans, new athletic fields, and those new parking lots that we all love so much, LVC will forever be a part of their past, present and future. These are their memories; their moments of the millenium.
